PREFACE.

THE Proprietors trust that the present—the Twelfth—Edition of their Directory of the Counties of CAMBRIDGE, NORFOLK AND SUFFOLK may be found equal in accuracy to the previous Editions.

It comprises a general account of each County, with the Hundreds and Poor Law Unions, Lists of Magistrates, a sketch of the Geological features of each County, and the Places in each County, alphabetically arranged, with their Inhabitants, both Private Residents and those engaged in Commerce and Trade. Under each Parish the Division of the County (as formed under the provisions of the “Redistribution of Seats Act, 1885”), the Hundred, Union and County Court District, the Diocese, Archdeaconry, and Rural Deanery are given, as also the College and University of every Beneficed Clergyman, as far as they can be ascertained, and the names of the Parish Clerks and lists of Farm Bailiffs of Gentlemen farming their own land.

The County Councils are included, with the names and addresses of the Members.

The Maps have been specially prepared for this Edition.

The Proprietors have again to return their thanks to those Clergymen, Magistrates' Clerks, Registrars, and other Gentlemen who have assisted their Agents when collecting the information for the present Edition.

* * * The Letters S.O. and R.S.O. at the end of addresses in various parts of the book are abbreviations adopted by H.M. Post Office to represent Sub-Office and Railway Sub-Office; and if these Initials, with the name of the County, are added to the addresses of letters in lieu of the usual name of Post Town, the delivery of such letters will be accelerated.

HUNDON is a parish and village, 4 miles north from Clare station on the Cambridge and Long Melford section of the Great Eastern railway and 6 north-east from Haverhill, in the Southern division of the county, Risbridge hundred, petty sessional division and union, county court district of Haverhill, rural deanery of Clare, archdeaconry of Sudbury and diocese of Ely. The church of All Saints is an ancient structure of flint, mostly in the Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel, nave, chapel aisles, south porch and a very fine embattled western tower containing a clock and 6 bells : in the attached chapel is a noble pyramidal monument of marble to Arethusa (Clifford), wife of James Vernon esq. and the mother of Francis Vernon esq. M.P. created (7 April, 1762) Baron Orwell of Newry and Earl of Shipbrooke ; she died in 1728 : a new organ was presented in 1897 by the Hon W. F. D. Smith M.P. : the church was partially restored and reseated with open oak benches in 1888, at a cost of £700, chiefly defrayed by the late Right Hon. W. H. Smith M.P. : there are 400 sittings. The register dates from the year 1538. The living is a discharged vicarage, net yearly value £120, with 20 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of Jesus College, Cambridge, and held since 1896 by the Rev. Henry Falcon Gipps M.A. of St. John's College, Cambridge. Here is a Congregational chapel. Rogerson's charity consists of a farm left in 1480, and a school-house let to the Board school, which now realize about £170 yearly ; the distribution is as follows : two-sixths for the repairs of the church, one-sixth towards the Board school, two-sixths for the children (not less than eight years old) who have made eighty attendances during the quarter, and one-sixth to be given in charity to the poor. Under a revised scheme of the Charity Commissioners, dated Oct. 1897, the body of trustees consists of the vicar (ex-officio) and licensed curate (if any), four representative trustees elected by the Parish Council, and three co-optative trustees. The Hon. W. F. D. Smith M.P. of Greenlands, Henley-on-Thames, who is lord of the manor, Thomas Bower esq. of Stradishall Place, C. E. Cumberledge-Ware esq. of Poslingford Hall, W. H. Dennis esq. and Jesus College, Cambridge, are the principal landowners. The soil is stiff clay ; subsoil, chiefly clay. The crops are wheat, barley, beans and mangolds. The area is 4,549 acres ; rateable value, £3,707 ; the population in 1891 was 838.

Beval and Cock Greens have been inclosed.

LOWESTOFT.

LOWESTOFT is a bathing place, seaport, municipal borough, the seat of an extensive fishery, and a market town and parish, with a terminal station on the Great Eastern railway, 113 miles from London by road, 116 by rail via Ipswich and East Suffolk branch of the Great Eastern railway, and 149 $\frac{1}{2}$  by rail via Norwich, 10 south from Yarmouth, 23 $\frac{1}{2}$  south-east from Norwich, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  east from Beccles and 44 north-east from Ipswich, and is in the Northern division of the county and head of a county court district, in the union, hundred and petty sessional division of Mutford and Lothingland, rural deanery of Lothingland, archdeaconry of Suffolk and diocese of Norwich; the town stands upon the most easterly point of land in England, on a lofty eminence and commands an extensive view of the German Ocean.

The progress of this place since the formation of the harbour and railway has been very rapid. Further impetus has been given to the trade of the town by the East Suffolk section of the Great Eastern railway, which connects it with Ipswich, and forms a shorter route to London. A direct line to Yarmouth has been made via Marsh Junction, near St. Olave's and distant 14½ miles.

The harbour is formed by two piers, 1,300 feet in length, inclosing, with the old harbour, an area of 20 acres: at the extremity of each pier is a lighthouse, showing a red light from sundown to sunrise: a dock was opened in October, 1883, north of the north pier, with entrance through the latter, and comprises between 10 and 11 acres: this dock, with its fish market, is for drift-net boats, and the old market is used for trawl-net boats. The trawl basin was extended in 1892 in a westerly direction, and now occupies the whole barrel plain, making the new trawl basin about double the size of the old one; this work became necessary owing to the large number of smacks fishing from Lowestoft: the inner harbour consists of a piece of water 2 miles in length, communicating with the river Waveney, by which merchandise can be conveyed to Beccles and Norwich: it has been of the greatest benefit to the coasting trade as a harbour of refuge, many lives and much property having been saved which otherwise would have been swallowed up in the waters of the German Ocean. Lowestoft is now an independent port; and in 1852 its limits were extended from League Hole to Thorpness and a legal quay appointed: fishing boats and their implements are distinguished by the letters L.T.; the Port Sanitary Authority was constituted by the Act 42 and 43, Vict. c. 103 (1879), and there is a Custom house.

On a point of land about 120 feet above the sea, to the north of the harbour, is the Upper Lighthouse, a circular tower, erected in 1676, rebuilt by order of the Trinity House in 1873, and opened on the 16th of February, 1874; it has a dioptric revolving light produced by a powerful lamp fixed in the centre of an octagonal drum of lenses, with a revolution every four minutes, showing a white light, visible for many miles every half-minute; a fixed red light is thrown on to a buoy at the edge of Corton sand. On the Denes beneath stands the Low Lighthouse, which is an iron structure: the light is occulted every half minute for the space of five seconds.

The herring fishery, for which this town has a growing reputation, begins about a fortnight before Michaelmas, and lasts till Martinmas, but a quantity of other fish are also brought here, and a considerable number of boats now frequent the port since the additional dock and other facilities have been provided: before the commencement of the herring season, many fishermen are employed in the mackerel fishery. The Fish Market consists of extensive ranges of buildings adjoining the harbour, where the fish are landed and sold by auction, and whence they are dispatched to the curing houses in the neighbourhood and to London and other parts by railway, lines of rail being laid across the streets into the market; there are, in fact, two markets, one solely for mackerel and herrings, and the other for white fish; and about 1,000 smacks belong to this port. The manufactures of the town consist of rope, twine and oilcake; sailmaking, boat and ship building and coach building are also carried on and there are large oil and flour mills; timber, ice, coals, pickles and preserved meats &c. are imported. The total value of the imports of foreign and colonial merchandise into Lowestoft in 1898 was £138,269, and of exports £35,280.

In 1898 the number of British sailing and steam vessels that entered the port with cargoes and in ballast were 50 of 16,380 tons, and in the foreign trade 150 of 24,314 tons. The number cleared were:—British, 36 of 2,841 tonnage, and foreign, 124 of 14,087 tons. In the general coasting trade 268 sailing vessels entered of 40,543 tons, and 42 cleared of 4,168 tons, and 224 steam vessels entered with a tonnage of 21,052 and 173 cleared of 12,858 tons.

The number of vessels registered as belonging to the port were in 1899, 554, with a tonnage of 25,583, of which only 12 were steam ships; 482 boats of 18,806 tons were registered under the "Sea Fisheries Act, 1868" (31 and 32 Vict. c. 45); and the number of resident men and boys employed in fishing about 3,500.

The town was incorporated by Royal Charter, dated August 29th, 1885, and comprises the parishes of Lowestoft and Kirkley within the boundary of the borough, which is divided into four wards; the corporation consisting of a mayor, 8 aldermen and 24 councillors. A commission of the peace was granted to the borough 20 Sept. 1893.

This popular watering place consists of the old and new towns; the former is very straggling and being on an elevation, there are slopes and steps called "Scores" to the north beach. The declivity of the cliff here is covered with hanging gardens or terraces planted with trees and shrubs, and between these and the sea is a tract of land called "The Denes," with a large lake, golf and cricket grounds, and an extensive range of buildings appropriated to the curing of fish: the town is much frequented as a bathing place; the shore is composed of a firm sand, intermixed with shingle and very safe for bathing. The principal street of the old town is about a mile in length.

South Lowestoft, a modern extension, is in the parish of Kirkley: here the Esplanade, with its long row of semi-detached houses, commands a fine view of the sea, and the Marine parade and the Wellington esplanade are lined with houses of superior character; many of which are retained by county families for summer occupation. The Esplanade, 800 yards in length, and the South pier of the harbour, which it joins, form a promenade of great extent. The new and old towns are connected by a swing bridge across the harbour. Gas and water are supplied by the Lowestoft Water and Gas Company, established in 1853; the gasworks are on the beach; the water is derived from an inland lake at Bunker's Hill, in the parish of Lound, 5 miles north-west, and is pumped into a large covered reservoir, north of the town, holding 8,000,000 gallons.

The parish church of St. Margaret, half a mile west of the town, is a building of stone in the Perpendicular style, 184 feet in length and consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, porch with parvise over, at the west end of the south aisle, and a tower with spire, together 120 feet in height, and containing one bell; the tower, which is the oldest part of the church, dates from the first half of the 13th century: the nave, aisles, chancel and porch were built about 1483, and at this time the tower was raised and the spire, which is of wood, covered with lead, added: the length of the nave from the tower to where the rood screen anciently stood is 122 feet, and from thence to the east window 62 feet, making a total of 184 feet: on the east side of the porch are the remains of an old sundial, the ironwork of the gnomon still remaining: the entrance has some good groined vaulting, and a central boss carved with a representation of the Trinity: at the north-west angle of the tower is a long narrow opening, formerly used for storing processional crosses and banners: the tower arch is a very small one of the Decorated period: the font, though much mutilated, is a fine example of Perpendicular work: on the south side of the chancel are remains of a piscina and sedile: in the centre aisle is the grave slab of Thomas Scroope, a Carmelite friar, sometime Bishop of Dromore, in Ireland: he resigned the see in 1424, and died at Lowestoft in 1491, aged 100, and was buried in the middle of the chancel: the slab is 8 feet 7 inches long by 3 feet 6 inches wide and had a brass with three canopies and side buttresses and a figure of the bishop: the stained east window was erected in 1891 as a memorial to Mrs. Youngman: the principal portion of the south window in the chancel was painted by Robert Allen, a native of Lowestoft, and presented to the church by him in 1822: there is a memorial window to Lady Smith, who died in 1877, having nearly completed her 104th year; and others to Mrs. Reeve, Mrs. Richard Reeve and Mrs. Preston: the church was thoroughly restored and reseated in 1871, under the superintendence of Mr. J. L. Clemence F.R.I.B.A. at a cost of £5,000, when also an organ was erected at a cost of £475, and in 1899 the roof of the nave was decorated under the direction of M. G. F. Bodley A.R.A., F.S.A. The register, which is in excellent preservation, dates from 1561; bound up with it is a complete list of the incumbents of this parish from 1308 to the present time. The living is a rectory, net yearly value £300, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Norwich, and held since 1889 by the Rev. Chas. D'Aguilar Lawrence M.A. Christ Church, Oxford, rural dean of Lothingland and hon. canon of Norwich.

St. Peter's, a chapel of ease to St. Margaret's, was built in 1833, and affords 700 sittings, of which 400 are free.

St. John the Evangelist's is an ecclesiastical parish, formed 19 Dec. 1854: the church, erected in 1853, at a cost of £5,600, on the south side of the harbour, is a building of Kentish rag and Caen stone, in the Decorated style, from designs by Mr. J. L. Clemence F.R.I.B.A. consisting of chancel, nave, transepts, aisle and tower at the north-east angle, with spire and containing 5 bells and an illuminated clock with chimes, all placed in the tower in 1887 at a total cost of £350: the aisle was added in 1883, at a cost of £900: there are some stained windows: the reredos was erected in 1899 as a memorial of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee: there are about 1,000 sittings. The register dates from the year 1854. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £300, including 1 acre of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Church Patronage Society, and held since 1898 by the Rev. Sydenham Lynes Dixon, Th. Assoc. King's College, London. In 1900 a new vicarage house was provided on the sea front.

Christ Church is an ecclesiastical parish, formed 13 Nov. 1866: the church, erected on the Denes in 1868, at a cost of £1,460, as a memorial to the Rev. Francis Cunningham, a former vicar, is a structure of white brick, with stone facings, in the Early English style, standing north and south, and consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch and a south-east tower with spire containing 6 bells: in 1879, a large vestry and an organ chamber with organ were added: in July, 1879, a new aisle was erected at a cost of £950: there are about 750 sittings, of which 350 are free. The register dates from the year 1869. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £250, with residence, in the gift of five trustees, and held since 1890 by the Rev. David Dickson, of St. Aidans, who is also rector of Gunton, and surrogate.

A new Catholic church is now (1900) in course of erection in Gordon road.

The Baptist Chapel, in London road, is an edifice of flint and brick, in the Gothic style, and was opened in Feb. 1899: the total cost amounting to £5,500; it consists of a nave and aisle, divided by red granite columns with carved stone caps and moulded bases: there is a fine organ, and the chapel affords sittings for 500 persons. There is a Particular Baptist chapel in Tonning street, built in 1860, and another at Kirkley, erected in 1878. The Congregational church, London road, erected in 1855, affords 650 sittings. The Wesleyan chapel, High street, built in 1862, is an edifice of white brick with Caen stone dressings in the Italian style, from designs by Mr. J. L. Clemence, and will seat 1,250 persons. The Methodist Free church, London road, built in 1878 at a cost of £8,200, is of brick and stone in the Italian style, from designs by Mr. John Johnson, architect, of London, and has a tower with spire, together 100 feet in height: there are 800 sittings.

The Primitive Methodist chapel, St. Peter's street, built in 1876, seats about 200. That in Mill road, erected in 1870, has 320 sittings, and there is another in Norwich road, built in 1872 and seating about 80. The Swedenborgian, or New Jerusalem church, Milton road, was erected in 1867, and affords 250 sittings. The Christian Meeting Room is in Chapel street. The Sailors' Bethel, Battery Green road, was built in 1899, and will hold about 1,000 persons.

A Cemetery of 11½ acres, on the Beccles road, was formed in 1885; it contains a mortuary chapel, and is under the control of the Town Council.

The Town Hall, erected in 1857, and rebuilt in 1899, is a structure in the Italian style, with an illuminated clock and bell: the large hall is ornamented with pilasters, supporting a bold cornice and segmental decorated ceiling; three of the windows are filled with stained glass, presented by the late Sir Morton Peto bart.: that at the west end is intended to commemorate the union of France and England, during the Crimean war of 1854-6, and was designed by the late Mr. John Thomas, and includes in the centre a representation of the tournament of the Field of the Cloth of Gold, 7-25 June, 1520, with effigies of St. Denis of France and St. George of England; in the base are the respective shields of both nations, and the national flags, together with medallion portraits of H.M. Queen Victoria and H.R.H. the late Prince Consort, the Emperor Napoleon III. and the Empress Eugenie: the whole is surrounded by a rich bordering of roses and fleur-de-lis alternated: this window was exhibited at the Paris Exhibition, 1855: the two smaller windows contain respectively the arms of Sir Morton Peto bart. as lord of the manor, and the arms of the town of Lowestoft.

In 1899 the front of the old Town Hall having been taken down for the purpose of widening High street, some adjoining properties were purchased and the Town Hall and Municipal Offices facing Compass street, rebuilt, under the direction of Mr. G. H. Hamby, the borough engineer, at a cost of about £4,000.

The market and rights were transferred to the corporation in 1887: the market place is in High street: the market is on Wednesday, and annual fairs are held on May 13 and Oct. 11 for small wares.

There are a number of ancient charities and six almshouses, built in 1838, for six of the poorest master fishermen of Lowestoft.

The Hospital, erected in 1881-2, at a cost, including site, of about £7,000, is a structure of red brick and stone in a plain Italian style, from designs by Mr. J. L. Clemence: the principal front towards the south is about 150 feet long and two stories in height: in the centre on the first story is an open arcade or verandah, intended for the use of convalescents: the dispensary for out-door patients is on the ground floor at the east end of the building, and is approached from Tennyson road: the building also comprises a waiting room, consulting room and board room.

The Small Pox and Fever Hospital or Sanitorium, in Rotterdam road, was built in 1893, and contains 35 beds.

The Convalescent Home, near Belle Vue Park, was established in 1877, for persons of either sex likely to be benefitted by sea bathing or a temporary residence at the seaside: it is primarily intended for Norwich, East Norfolk and East Suffolk, but it is open to patients from other localities: there are beds for about 54 persons.

The premises of the Young Men's Christian Association were built in 1886, at a cost of £1,500, including furnishing, and contains a news room, library and a gymnasium.

There are two Masonic Lodges here, and one Royal Arch Chapter. St. Margaret's Lodge meets at the Royal Hotel on the second Monday in every month, Walter James, W.M.; the Unity Lodge, at the Masonic Hall, on the Tuesday before full moon in each month, Frederick Spasheff, W.M.; and the Royal Arch Chapter, every three months at the Suffolk Hotel, K. Rix, M.E.Z.

The County Police Station here was built in 1875.

On the beach north of the harbour are the hot and cold sea-water baths of Mr. David Cook. There are also hot and cold sea-water baths at South Lowestoft.

Belle Vue Park, on the summit of the cliffs, a short distance beyond the Upper Lighthouse, and opened in 1874, was formed out of what originally was an open heath, covered with gorse; several acres have been inclosed and tastefully laid out with paths and terraces and planted with flowers and shrubs, intermixed with the gorse, and the site affords fine views seawards. At the foot of the cliffs is a fountain, the water of which has medicinal properties. The Ravine Bridge, presented to the town by William Youngman esq. first Mayor of Lowestoft, and opened 29 Aug. 1887, is an elegant structure of red brick and ironwork, designed by Mr. R. Parkinson, engineer of the Eastern and Midlands railway, with a span of 70 feet, and an elevation of 30 feet from the ravine: the width between the rails is 7 feet; at the park end are two stones with inscriptions let into the brickwork.

Sparrow's Nest Park, sometimes called "Victoria Park," was purchased by the Corporation in 1897, and laid out in such a manner as to preserve the natural beauties of the site; about one-third of the total area consists of well-wooded grassy slopes, in which is a spring of mineral water; at the foot of these slopes is Sparrow's Nest House, formerly the residence of Baron Alderson and his daughter, the late Marchioness of Salisbury: attached is a small conservatory well stocked with flowers, and an extensive range of glass houses: during July, August and September, afternoon open-air concerts are held daily, and two illuminated fêtes per month are given; a band also plays here three evenings per week during the season.

The area of the parish is 1,443 acres of land, 56 of tidal water and 41 of foreshore; rateable value, £92,076; and the population in 1861 was 9,534, and in 1871 was 13,623, and in 1881 was 16,755; the population of the borough in 1881 was 19,696, in 1891 was 23,143.

KIRKLEY, otherwise South Lowestoft, is a parish adjoining Lowestoft, and commands a fine view of the German ocean. The church of St. Peter, situated on a hill and serving as a landmark to mariners, after having lain in ruins since the time of the Protectorate, was partly rebuilt in 1750, and is an edifice of flint with stone facings, in a quasi-Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, north and south porches, side chapel and an embattled western tower 72 feet in height, containing one bell: in 1896 E. K. Harvey esq. presented a clock, which strikes the quarters and hours on a deep-toned bell: in 1875 the nave was rebuilt and divine service resumed by the Rev. William Watson English D.D. rector (1875-85), and the restoration was completed by the Rev. Eustace Tennyson D'Eyncourt Jesse M.A. late rector (1885-90), the church being enlarged by the erection of a side chapel, north aisle and north porch, and in 1887 a south porch was erected by Edward Kerrison Harvey esq. to the memory of his wife, and a brass with an inscription placed in it: at the same time a screen with well-carved figures, and a cross 7½ feet in height, was erected to her memory, a memorial brass being also placed by her daughters: in 1896 this screen was replaced by a handsome iron screen, the rood screen being re-erected in 1899 in St. Matthew's mission church: in the porch is a brass cross inscribed to the Rev. Francis Drocus Lempriere M.A. a former rector, d. 23 Oct. 1875, to whom there is also a memorial window, erected by his widow in 1887: a new organ has been erected, at a cost of £2,000, and a lectern presented by Edward Kerrison Harvey esq.: there are 1,100 sittings. The registers date from the year 1799, having been previous to this date incorporated with those of Pakefield. The living is a rectory, net yearly value £200, with 30 acres of glebe, in the gift of trustees, and held since 1898 by the Rev. Henry Cockayne M.A. of University College, Oxford. St. Matthew's Mission church, erected in 1899 in a poor and populous part of the parish, at a cost of upwards of £1,500, is a half-timbered structure, and seats 500 persons. The Rev. Percy Douglas Hodges M.A. of Selwyn College, Cambridge, is curate in charge.

A Congregational church is now (1900) in construction, on a site given by the late Mr. J. J. Colman, from plans prepared by Mr. George Baines F.R.I.B.A. architect, 5 Clement's inn, London W.C., and 125 London road, Lowestoft, at an estimated cost of £3,063; the building will be faced with red facing-bricks, with white Costessey brick-block dressings and stone, and consist of a wide nave separated from the choir by a stone arch supported by green marble shafts having moulded bases and carved capitals, two vestries in the rear and a large church parlour; the church, when completed, will seat 462 persons.

The Cemetery, 4 acres in extent, was formed in 1880; it has two mortuary chapels, and is under the control of the Town Council acting as a Burial Board. An allotment of land, awarded at the time of the inclosure, now lets for £170 a year, which amount is distributed in coals to the poor, and helps to support provident clubs. There are many good lodging houses here. Mr. C. W. Willett is lord of the manor. The principal land-owners are Messrs. Lucas Brothers, Thomas Hubbard Leggett esq. and John Wilson esq. The area is 547 acres of land, 4 of tidal water and 27 of foreshore; rateable value, £31,047; the population in 1881 was 2,941, and in 1891 was 4,189, and estimated in 1900 at 6,000.

Acting Parish Clerk, James Barcham, 8 Grosvenor rd.

MARKET WESTON is a parish  $7\frac{1}{2}$  miles south from Harling Road station on the Thetford and Wymondham section and 9 west from Diss station on the Ipswich and Norwich line of the Great Eastern railway and 9 south-east from Thetford, in the North Western division of the county, Blackbourn hundred and petty sessional division, Thetford union and county court district, rural deanery of Blackburne, archdeaconry of Sudbury and diocese of Ely. The church of St. Mary is an ancient structure of flint, in the Early English and Decorated styles, consisting of chancel, nave, a fine Norman south porch and a square western tower with pinnacles and containing 5 bells and a clock: a new organ was placed in the church in 1888 and in 1889 the chancel was raised, a new vestry and belfry erected and a new font provided: there are 150 sittings. The register dates from the year 1567. The living is a discharged rectory, net yearly value £175, including 14 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of and held since 1885 by the Rev. Edmund Thomas Daubeney B.A. of Magdalen College, Oxford. The Primitive Methodist chapel here was built in 1862. A charter for a market and fair here was obtained by Sir Robert Hovell, then lord of the manor, Dec. 10th, 1263, but both are now extinct. The charities amount to £35 yearly. The Town Estate, consisting of 12a. 2r. and producing £13 yearly, is used for the purposes of the church, and the remainder is given to the poor in bread and coal. Weston Hall, now de-
